Catherine ^[1]

Catherine makes television. It all sounds rather funky, but we're assured it's dull as dishwater. She would know, since she also collects dish-mops. Catherine is often to be found staring at her fingertip to see how small she can see. According to current estimates, it is about ten times smaller than this full stop. Catherine always seems busier than average, being one of those working supermums who make us wonder how they fit it all in their day!
